

 Partly Cloudy High: 89 Low: 71	Description: Some clouds in the morning give way to mainly sunny skies in the afternoon.
--	--

SAY HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO...

July 26th: Angela Yee (JH)
July 27th: Jon Lee (tafLabs)

Words of wisdom from our speakers:

"Loving out loud is hard work. Have hope along the way."
-- Tom Lin (Youth)

"Taking the effort to know someone's name is the start of building a bond. Being unique is more fun when shared among friends. That's when you can love out loud."

-- Jon D. Lin (JH)
"Everytime you open your mouth you can either build someone up or tear someone down."

-- Roger Lin (Juniors)

TOP 4 TAF GAMES

1. Ninja
2. Telephone Charades
3. Ride the Pony
4. Big Booty

You asked, We answered!

In the past two days, some questions arose from campers about the ongoings of TAF. Below are some responses which we hope will ease these concerns.

Q: What food would you not recommend us to eat?

A: Avoid excessive amounts of any one food. Eating your veggies and fruits are definitely a must!

Q: Why is Howard's hair so weird?

A: To amuse the campers, of course!

Q: What's fun at TAF?

A: Everything! The highlights of TAF are getting to know your sibs, playing group games, and participating in Loving Out Loud.

Q: What do you do the rest of the week?

A: There are a variety of workshops throughout the week, activities that bring together all three programs, and an awesome sib waterfight!

Q: Do you get to know everyone at TAF or just the people in your small group?

A: If you are willing to branch out and open up, TAF can be a memorable experience in which you can go home with lifelong friendships. The little sib/big sib program is also a great way to connect with other campers in different programs.

Behind the scenes staff spotlight

Name/Age/Hometown: Elizabeth Wang/24/Atlanta, GA

Occupation/Education: Barista-- I make coffee and yummy espresso drinks

Role at TAF (and a brief description): Junior Program Director. I make sure all Juniors have mandatory fun! And I like to hug them when they cry.

How many years have you been at TAF: 11

Favorite and/or most embarrassing TAF memory: In 98' a bunch of Atlanta folks arrived in the airport, and Wellington went to the bathroom (#2). Walter Tsai showed up with big welcome signs, went into the bathroom to find Wellington, and shoved the signs on top of his stall shouting "Welcome To TAF!" Poor kid. Then we threw french fries at the other cars driving to TAF to whole way there. That was the greatest TAF welcome :)

Would you rather not brush your teeth or not shower for the entire week of TAF: I'd definitely rather not shower for the entire week of TAF. I already don't shower that much, and I'm sure fur would grow on my teeth if I went a day without brushing them!

Counselors prepare to welcome campers for the first day of TAF!

JH camper during "Minute to Win it" activity.

Campers perform family group dances while finding their sibs.

Photo recap of the first two days of TAF!

Youth camper Eric limbos during the luau party. Juniors play with water during an obstacle course.